As the Legacy BellSouth Commercial Agreements currently in place will be expiring at the end of 2007, AT&T Southeast Region will soon begin the process of amending or replacing all such Agreements. AT&T will propose one or all of the following, as applicable:

- 1.) Extension of the term of the Agreement through December 31, 2008;
- 2.) A flat rate structure for AT&T's Calling Name (CNAM) Database Service;
- 3.) Addition of the Inside Wire Maintenance Service Plan; and/or
- 4.) Modification of the rate structure for the stand alone DSO Wholesale Local Switch Ports and the switching component of the DSO Wholesale Local Platform (WLP) services to eliminate the Mass Market and Enterprise Market rate categorizations, and instead, apply a single rate for each applicable class of service.

These modifications will further enhance the business relationship between AT&T and each CLEC. Ultimately, the term extension will provide an additional year of certainty to the existing Commercial Agreement between AT& T and the CLEC. The flat rate price for CNAM will remove the current variable rate and will provide more predictable billing. Additionally, by adding AT&T's Inside Wire Maintenance Service Plan to the Agreement, CLECs will have the ability to choose AT&T for such services. And last, moving to a single rate for DSO Wholesale Switch Ports and the switching component of the DSO WLP will also provide more predictable billing by eliminating the current quarterly back billing for DSO Enterprise services. It should be noted that for CLEC's classes of service that currently contain a significant mix of Mass and Enterprise end users, a composite rate for such classes of service will be developed and incorporated into an amendment.

Additional information will be provided by your contract negotiator in the coming weeks.
